Escape To Safety

The Cheshire Fire and Rescue Service recently visited to deliver their informative and impactful "Escape to Safety" course to Y5. This program was designed to educate the children on essential fire safety measures and the importance of having a well-thought-out escape plan in case of emergencies. The session was both engaging and enlightening, providing practical advice and fostering awareness about fire prevention and response strategies.

Career Talks

As we head into the spring term, we are excited to announce our next career talk for the children, focusing on careers in construction. These talks aim to inspire and demonstrate the vast possibilities that education can unlock. By connecting real-world careers to classroom learning, we hope to motivate children and broaden their horizons.

If you would like to contribute by speaking to the children or connecting us with someone in your organisation, we would be delighted to hear from you. Your support can help make a lasting impact on the children's understanding of career opportunities.

The Week Junior: The Perfect Gift to Inspire Young Readers

Over the Christmas period, I saw an advert for the magazine called The Week Junior and was reminded of what a great publication this is for children who prefer a magazine format to traditional books. Encouraging children to develop a love for reading and critical thinking can feel challenging in today's digital world, but The Week Junior makes it easier.

This publication bridges the gap between children's and adult newspapers, offering carefully curated content that is both educational and engaging. It covers world news, science, history, and culture, written in a way that sparks curiosity and meaningful conversations.
